

Robert "Wolfman" Belfour dies

Written by Pat Graham

Saturday, 28 February 2015 10:08 -

from Blues Music Magazine: ROBERT "WOLFMAN" BELFOUR
September 11, 1940 - February 26, 2015 Story By Roger Stolle

Sad news in the blues world today. Mr. Robert "Wolfman" Belfour — RIP. Arguably the deepest of the surviving, old-school, Mississippi bluesmen was found deceased at his home in Memphis this morning by relatives. He had been suffering from various health issues (mainly diabetes and mobility related) for over a year but had recently been doing better. He had not performed since last June but was slated to play at Juke Joint Festival in April.

Mr. Belfour's family is in desperate need of money for funeral services. The Memphis Blues Society is trying to raise money to help the family with funeral costs. Those wishing to donate can do so through The Memphis Blues Society Benefit link: Click here

For now... if you knew the blues legend, tell your friends a story about him today... if you didn't know him, then stop what you're doing and spend a little time on the web exploring his life and music.