

TED Plays SoundWave

Written by Pat Graham

Wednesday, 03 April 2013 07:44 - Last Updated Monday, 08 April 2013 19:19

You might say we like to brag about our local Southern California artists --- and on May 16 that's exactly what KLBC.org, KCTY.org and I E News will be doing. These broadcasting installations at Long Beach City College will present SoundWave 2013, a six hour simulcast focusing on our regional bands here in southern California.

TED, the acoustic bluegrass trio hailing from Long Beach is part of this musical spectacular. Consisting of guitar, mandolin and upright bass and occasional fiddle, TED plays frequently in the Southern California area. Weekly appearances on Wednesday evenings at Long Beach's Cafe Ambrosia and Sunday mornings at the popular Alamitos Bay Farmer's Market bring smiles and dancing acoustic enthusiasts to their feet. The infusion of bluegrass and Irish roots music always is a crowd pleaser as they play EJ Malloy's First Fridays in Long Beach.

TED has also played at The Plough & Stars in San Francisco, Nadine's Irish Mist in Seal Beach, The Last stage West in Morro Bay and The Frog And Peach in San Luis Obispo. They recently opened for jazz violinist Christian Howes at the Found Theater in Long Beach.
www.facebook.com/TEDbluegrass

TED Plays SoundWave

Written by Pat Graham

Wednesday, 03 April 2013 07:44 - Last Updated Monday, 08 April 2013 19:19
